Carlin-Type Targets

Ghost Ranch – Shallow pediment with pronounced NW structural fabric and anomalous Carlin-suite geochemistry on trend with Long Canyon

Raven – District-scale target on the Rabbit trend with multiple gold cells in upper plate and limited tests of lower plate carbonates

Diamond Point – 3 km long structurally controlled gold system in the Carlin trend with no drill tests of favorable stratigraphy

South Roberts – Shallow pediment gold target on the Battle Mountain-Eureka Trend. Large NW trending gravity break associated with Carlin geochemical signature.

Epithermal Au-Ag Targets

Gilbert South – Kilometer wide gold-bearing vein swarms associated with dacite domes

Secret Canyon – Multi-gram gold mineralization at surface in northeast trending fault zones adjacent to Kinross/Premier project in the Goldbanks district

Fireball Ridge – Outcropping quartz-adularia veins with high grade gold mineralization in historic drilling and newly defined, untested structural model

Intrusion-related targets

Buffalo Canyon – Gold system containing stockwork and sheeted gold-quartz-tourmaline veins proximal to reduced intrusion, and distal mesothermal gold and base metal-bearing quartz veins

Manhattan Gap – New gold-rich polymetallic replacement targets in the historic Pioche (Pb-Zn-Ag) district
